CENTROPEN: WRITING HISTORY

The Dačice company Centropen has always been renowned for its innovative approach to modern writing instruments and accessories. The original company emerged in the 1940s, and made an impression on the public with its STENO fountain pens, which were an immediate huge success.

Following the separation agreement of its two founders, a new chapter began to be written into the history books—the new factory carried the name OMEGA. Since the 1960s, when the company reacted quickly under the name CENTROPEN to the emerging phenomenon of markers, production has grown steadily. Each time, CENTROPEN adapted easily to the needs of domestic and international markets. This has continued even into the modern era of the past 20 years, when the company has put great emphasis on healthy writing technique and the high quality of nontoxic materials, including ink.

If you are looking for modern ergonomic design, flawless performance, and quality Czech craftsmanship with a long-term satisfaction guarantee, jot down and double-underscore:

AMONG PROFESSIONALS

Reliability, durability, endurance. Centropen products designated for hobby and industrial use will satisfy even the most stringent demands. The singular parameters of Centropen products predetermine them for application in a wide range of materials and special tasks, for which typical writing utensils are not enough.

WRITING AND DRAWING ARE A GAME

Proper ergonomics of writing utensils are essential for the correct writing and drawing techniques of school-aged and preschool-aged children. Our many years of ceaseless laboratory and technical developments have allowed us to fulfil these demands, which is why Centropen products have a triangular-shaped grip, consistent ink quality, and long-lasting performance for writing and drawing.
